KARAMU

A feast of simple things

Karamu is a Swahili word evoking a banquet, a feast and celebration around the table. It comes from the Arabic karam, meaning "generosity".

This new collection by Makaria is presented as a banquet, a celebration of the everyday and of all that we share.

CUSTOM CERAMICS

I create bespoke ceramic pieces and ceramic murals, always in Makaria's own visual language and style. Commissions usually begin with a piece I have already created. From there, we can adapt the work to your idea, your story or the particular space you have in mind.

To discuss options, dimensions or a quote, write to contacto@makaria-artist.com.

PRACTICAL INFORMATION

Makaria Karamu pieces are made of earthenware.

Each piece is shaped by a potter, then painted and glazed by hand by Makaria. This creates a connection between ancestral crafts we wish to preserve and contemporary art.

They are food-safe and suitable for use in the dishwasher and microwave.

Each piece has small imperfections and irregularities that are part of the handmade process, revealing the beauty of things made by hand.

HOW DO I PLACE AN ORDER?
